RE: Docket No. M-2010-2152691
Training Certifications for Weatherization Installations and Audits

Envinity would like to thank the PUC for the opportunity to comment on the Training Certifications for Weatherization Installations and Audits. Envinity is a rapidly growing business located in State College, PA that has invested a considerable amount of time, energy, and funding to certify our staff to the national standards set forth by the Building Performance Institute (BPI) and the Residential Energy Services Network (RESNET). We touch over 100 homes per year (both new and existing) and we have more than quadrupled in size over the past 5 years.

From our perspective, as leaders in this industry, the PUC needs to recognize the standing of both of these levels of certification. We have worked tirelessly to educate the public about these standards, the benefit of these standards, and the rigors to which we have been tested. We have had great success working within the standards set forth by BPI and RESNET and we have undoubtedly noticed a vast increase in consumer awareness of these standards.

The fact that BPI and RESNET standards are not only geared toward energy efficiency, but also to occupant health and safety, makes it nearly impossible to settle for less. We have read over and fully agree with the comments submitted to the PUC by PA Home Energy regarding this issue.

Thank you for your consideration,
